About C.B. Shiepe

“Going over the falls will change you, but how it changes you changes everything...”

At age 26, C.B. Shiepe went over the falls in his own life when a health challenge landed him in bed with little more to do than write. It was in the midst of this trial God gave him a message that is reaching thousands of people around the world.

With so much of life already on hold, the last thing he wanted to do was write a book, but he had a story to tell, and perseverance won out. Writing in coffee shops at 5:00 in the morning, he drew on his own experiences working in the entertainment and faith worlds.

CLIFF FALLS was part of his restoration and was years in the making. It took several incarnations. Looking back, he never asked himself if he could write a novel, a screenplay, or a limited television series. He just did, and learned along the way, starting a publishing company to boot. Belief is a powerful thing.

Shiepe has garnered much media attention, appearing on NBC, PBS, TBN, Hour of Power, in Guideposts Magazine, at the LA Times Festival of Books, and speaking engagements across the country, including the Betty Ford Center in Rancho Mirage, CA where actors performed scenes from his novel. His award-winning novel is reaching a broad audience and continues to resonate with readers. For that he is grateful.

A coveted speaker, he’s traveled the country, surprised, but thankful, by the response, amazed how people from all walks of life connect with him and his novel in such a deep, personal way. Maybe we’re not so different after all?

He says, “The knowledge that my story is speaking to people who have gone over the falls is especially meaningful to me. In all that isolation, I had to recognize the face of restoration, and trust that God was taking my experience and redeeming the lost years. I know now that none of our life’s experiences goes to waste.”

C.B. Shiepe graduated from the University of Southern California and started his career in production for The Walt Disney Company. Founder of Cliff Falls Media, Inc., C. B. Shiepe develops creative content that explores who we are and how we are connected to God and each other. Understanding that “at one time or another we all go over the falls,” he writes and speaks to an intergenerational audience about the CLIFF FALLS experience. “It’s one thing to believe in something when you don’t need it to be true. It’s another when everything is riding on it.”

Above all, he thanks the One who has seen him through. “After you have suffered a little while, He Himself will restore you and make you strong, firm and steadfast.” – 1 Peter 5:10. Whatever that looks like, he’s game.
